Commercial division gets new addition

ServiceMaster Clean of Ottawa brings on the latest addition to its commercial sales team

OTTAWA, Ontario – December 22, 2008 While most of the city, and even the world, finds itself in the slowdown of the holidays and the current economic situation, ServiceMaster Clean of Ottawa continues to show momentum approaching 2009. The latest sign of this is the addition of a commercial cleaning sales executive, brought on to help the company expand its maintenance program client portfolio.

Just hired, Jim Bonner comes to ServiceMaster Clean of Ottawa with a diversified portfolio of his own. With an extensive background in sales and business development, Mr. Bonner is excited to bring his wealth of knowledge and experience to ServiceMaster. "I am really looking forward to expanding ServiceMaster Clean of Ottawa's client base in to untapped areas," says Bonner. "Working with current clients, ensuring their needs are met, and keeping them happy, will also be of key importance, particularly with our current economic climate. I also look forward to representing such a well-established brand, with top-notch service offerings like its GoGreen program."

Even more excited about this latest addition is John Cooke, president, ServiceMaster Clean of Ottawa. "We have been searching high and low to find a sales executive that fits our strict requirements for this position," says Cooke. "I think we have found a perfect match with Jim, and am really looking forward to seeing what he can do for our business."

Bonner, a life-long Ottawa resident, who grew up in the west end of the city, is also a seasoned on-air radio talent. After graduating from Loyalist College in Belleville, Bonner spent a few years at a Peterborough radio station before finding himself back to his roots here in Ottawa. He has since announced for several reputable Ottawa radio stations. Jim was always the radio-personality type, though he also dabbled with municipal politics when he ran for city council in the '90's.
